MANY NATIONS - ONE ATMOSPHERE: PLOTTING THE PATH TO SUSTAINABILITY

The Congress will bring together corporate environment managers, the media, consultants, policy makers and government representatives, research scientists, project managers, regulators and industry environment officers. Their interests will include air quality monitoring and analysis, control systems, consultant expertise and cleaner production initiatives. The 2013 IUAPPA Congress will be held concurrently with the annual NACA Conference.

The congress programme will cover:

- Air Quality in the Developing World
- Air Pollution and Climate Change
- Bio-diversity, Eco-system services and Crop Damage
- International Co-operation on Air Pollution

Sponsorship opportunities are available.

CALL FOR PAPERS

Researchers, professionals, educators, government officials, consultants, managers, community leaders, students and other interested parties in air quality management are hereby invited to submit abstracts for oral presentations or poster papers to the organisers of the congress.

All submissions will go through a peer-review process carried out by a local review panel. The review panel reserves the right to reject any paper considered not to meet the congress criteria.
